RED CROSS CAR

N COAL FIELDS

Is to Be Run to Give First-Aid and Lessons in Safety and Sanitation.

CHARLESTON, April 22.—The American National Red Cross Society has become interested in the ef-forts of coal operators of West Vir-ginia and other fields throughout the country in their effort to lessen materially the number of accidents incident to an occupation naturally hazardous.

For several years the national so-ciety has been working in the an-thracite fields of Pennsylvania and its officials are now busy spreading their ideas among the bituminous mines of the country. Some time ago the Pullman Company leased a car to the Red Cross Society and the car has been fully equipped with lit-erature and model apparatus. The apparatus is for serving, suifering and relieving pain.

In order that the Red Cross So-ciety in this direction may be facili-tated the Interstate Commerce Com-mission has given the railroads of the country permission to transport this car and its occupants free and every railroad that has been ap-proached on the subject has agreed to give the car and its occupants free transportation whenever needed.

The campaign for the Red Cross Society is being carried on by Dr. M. J. Shields and a staff of capable as-sistants. The United States Bureau of Mines also has a man on the Red Cross car. His duty is to illustrate and explain the use of the various appliances and safety devices.

The society has had prepared for exhibit first-aid packets, and a miners' first aid book. A summary for the instructions in the book is translated into German, Italian, Hun-garian, Polish, Slavak and Litu-anian languages.

The Red Cross car is expected to visit eventually every soft coal field in the country, and in due time will make a tour of West Virginia.
